

Beyond Borders

Can India play a role in Africa's integration with the global food trade?

By Karan A. Chanana

Ensuring food security for India's burgeoning population is crucial in order to maintain social stability. The continent of Africa, with over 800 million hectares of agricultural land, can offer a win-win solution to both India and the host country.